TITTABAWASSEE TOWNSHIP

Tittabawassee Township is the second oldest of Saginaw's 27 townships. It received its name from the name of the river which flows through it. The name Tittabawassee was originally Tittabawasig an Indian word which has been given several translations but the one most likely is "parallel with the bay."

It was to be years after Lewis Cass, that patriotic father of the Territory and State, who with the help of Louis Campau, negotiated the famous Treaty of Saginaw in 1819 with the Chippewa Chiefs that turned over to the white man a tremendous chunk of eastern Michigan before the easterner seriously considered settling in the vast new Michigan Territory. After the opening of the Erie Canal in 1825, speculators and settlers slowly began to trickle in.

The first property sold in Tittabawassee Township was in the year 1833. By 1837 there were 7 families in the township. Of course, Tittabawassee Township at that time consisted of all territory north of Saginaw and was comprised of parts of what is now Midland, Gratiot and Bay Counties.

After struggling along in an unequal contest with nature to bring the land to a state of cultivation, the settlers decided to organize a township and at the home of Obadiah Crane on April 5, 1841 such a meeting was held with Obadiah as Chairman. Much of lumbering in the Saginaw Valley in the early days was done on the upper stretches of the Tittabawassee River and as a result lumberjacks and river men were continually passing between Saginaw and the camps up the river. All the traffic passed either by boat on the river or by the river road which was impassable a good portion of the year.

The traffic over this natural route attracted shrewd tradesmen who ministered to the needs and comfort of the travelers and at intervals along the river, stores and taverns sprang up. In no instance did a settlement arise but merely clusters of two or three log or frame buildings.

Such a group was built in the 1850's on M-47 a short distance southeast of the geographical center of the township. It consisted of a tavern, general store and a few houses and was known as Loretto. There was also a postoffice there officially known as Jay and named after the postmaster Jefferson Jacquith who settled in this area in March 1839.

A second group similar to this one also existed at a point a little north of Loretto where a surprising political maneuver occurred which gave it prominence and also its name. A bit of partisan politics, with a postoffice as the stake was the opening chapter in the history of the Village of Tittabawassee known to most people as Freeland.

Garrett and Elizabeth York Freeland arrived in this area in 1854 from New Jersey. They built their first log hotel on the west side of the river which they operated for about five years when it was destroyed by fire. They moved across the river and built a wood structure on the southwest corner of Main and Washington Streets where the Standard Station now stands. Freeland's Hotel soon became very popular because of Elizabeth Freeland's tasty cooking and colorful personality. Lumberjacks filled the hotel every night, never being refused if they happened to be short of cash. A sympathetic listener and practical advisor, she acted much like a mother to many of the lumbermen and earned the nickname of "Mammy".

The pine floors of "Mammy" Freeland's Hotel and Tavern were worn rough by the hobnailed boots of the lumberjacks, and the rough and tumble legends of the lumbering era became part of Freeland's heritage.

As life of the day centered more and more around "Freelands" a man named George Trusdale, a blacksmith, wagonmaker and shoe maker, who had settled near the new hotel conceived the idea of moving the Jay postoffice from Loretto to his place. Andrew Jackson was then President and although he had been a Democrat he was elected by the Republican party on a Coalition ticket. Trusdale thought his best chance of securing the post office lay in being a Democrat. He had been a Republican for many years, but he forgot his old political views and allied himself with the Democrats. Events proved him to have been wise in his plans and he succeeded in securing the removal of the postoffice from Loretto to his own settlement which was still without a name.

Since the road from Midland to Saginaw was impassable most of the year, the logical means of transportation was the river. Canoes were very popular. Then came pole boats and a 25 ton side-wheel steamer named "Midland City" began making three trips each week to Saginaw but it proved too heavy for the river at low water. In 1859 the "Belle Seymour" arrived to run the river. Trade was excellent and this boat made regular trips from the time of her purchase until 1867.

For awhile there was little at Freeland but the little group of buildings as it was simply a stopping place for lumbermen and those working on the river drives. However in 1867 the Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad was built from Saginaw westward and passed close to the village and stimulated the growth of the tiny community. Stores and an elevator sprang up near the railroad tracks a few blocks east of the hotel. Although the community surrounding the hotel was shown on maps of the period as the "Village of Tittabawassee" it was referred to by lumbermen as "Freelands" or just plain Freeland. On January 16, 1879 the government recognized the popular name and changed the name of the postoffice from Jay to Freeland much to the joy of its citizens.

The year 1914 was a disasterous year for Freeland. Two fires one in January and another in July virtually destroyed the east side of Main Street. The fire losses were in the thousands of dollars and most of the buildings were either uninsured or only partially insured and as a consequence the business district was never rebuilt. In January of 1923 fire destroyed the old Freeland House, a landmark of the lumber days when lumberjacks made it a halfway house between Saginaw and Midland stopping there to sing the praises of "Mammy" Freeland. No insurance was carried on the pre-civil war structure. All that now remains of the old buildings on Main Street before 1900 is the Old Valley Telephone Office which is now the Mausoleum Office and Rodeitchers which was built by Charles Bishop at the turn of the Century.

Mark,
Hi there,
Well I didn't
talk to ya this much year. Maybe next year. Have fun this summer and take care.

Dan Shimyeh leads Falcons on to victory.

The last mile is the hardest.

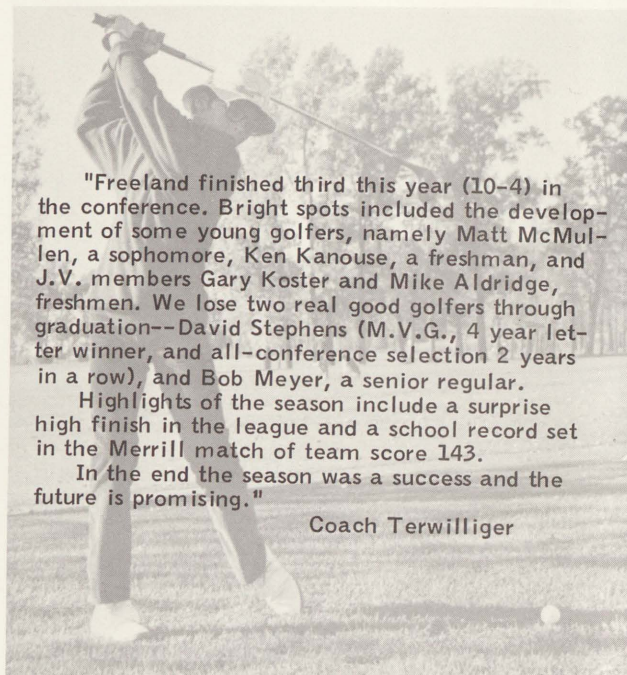

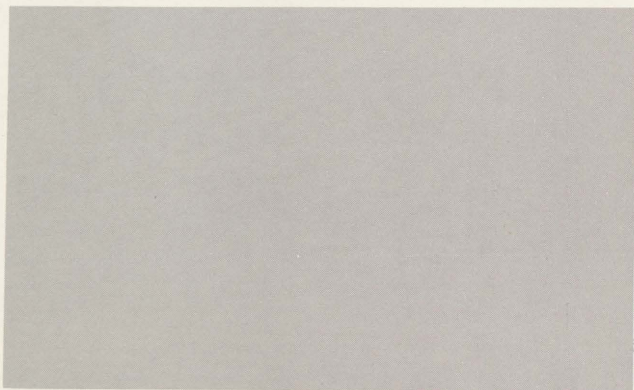

According to Coach Hollingsworth, "The cross country team is very talented, but quite young, and we're sure to see improvement in the future as the runners mature."

This year's team finished seventh in the CML, with a record of 7-8.

J.V. Golfers show promise

"Freeland finished third this year (10-4) in the conference. Bright spots included the development of some young golfers, namely Matt McMullen, a sophomore, Ken Kanouse, a freshman, and J.V. members Gary Koster and Mike Aldridge, freshmen. We lose two real good golfers through graduation--David Stephens (M.V.G., 4 year letter winner, and all-conference selection 2 years in a row), and Bob Meyer, a senior regular.

Highlights of the season include a surprise high finish in the league and a school record set in the Merrill match of team score 143.

In the end the season was a success and the future is promising."

"You got yourself into this one!"

Injuries hinder varsity

"The overall spirit and sportsmanship were extremely good this year," observed Coach Hoelzle, "but injuries were a fatal part." The girls came close, but they couldn't quite win a game.

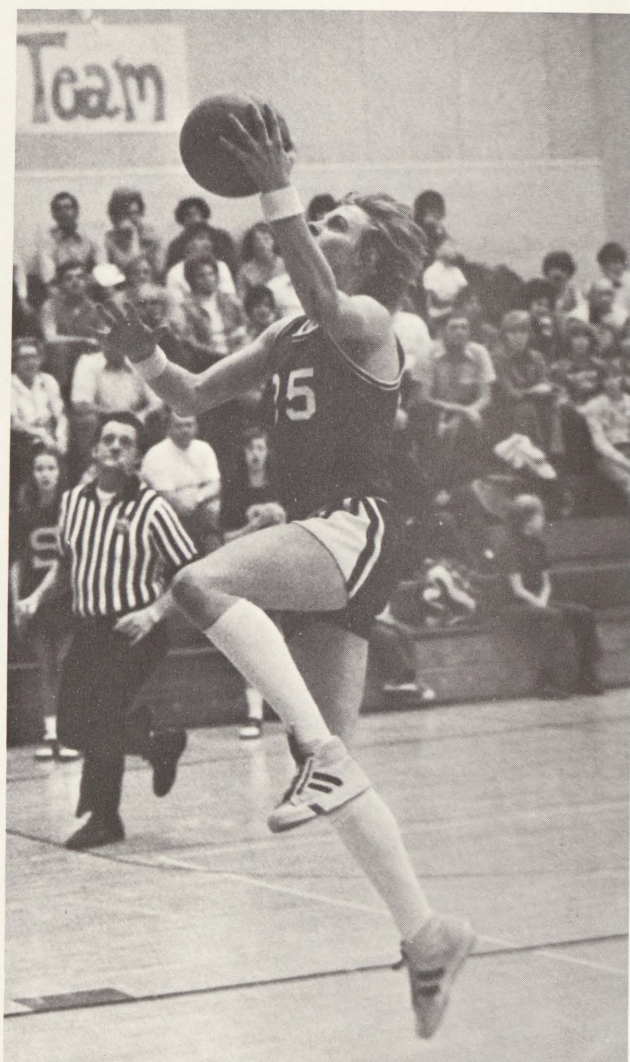

Diane Linton was elected to the all conference team.

Re-cap 1975-76 Season

"Freeland ended the current season with a 13-8 win-loss record. Freeland's team won the CML championship with a 10-4 record. This year's team provided the fans of Freeland with many exciting moments. The highlights of the season were the 83-79 win over St. Louis and the 72-70 win over Merrill to clinch the title."

"Freeland loses seven seniors this season. All of these were veteran ball players and will be missed next season."

"Seven sophomore and junior ball players will be joined by a fine group of players from the J.V. team to form next year's varsity team."

Craig Miller shows 'em how it's done!

"The J.V. basketball team ended this year with a 15-5 record. They were co-champions in the CML with a 12-2 record, tying with Merrill for the league title.

The J.V.'s played well all season long, showing great desire and teamwork. They were led by Gary Shaver and Craig Miller (the latter being moved up to varsity with five games to go) in the scoring department. Jim Reithel, Bill Delaney and Steve Neuenfeldt excelled in rebounding and defense. Brian Roth was the floor leader--doing an exceptional job. Brad Snedeker, Greg Perry, Bruce Gunther, Rick Ortega, Ray Wilson and Todd Compton showed excellent potential and always did a good job coming off the bench.

This was a very successful year for the J.V.'s. The future looks very bright for Freeland in the next two years."

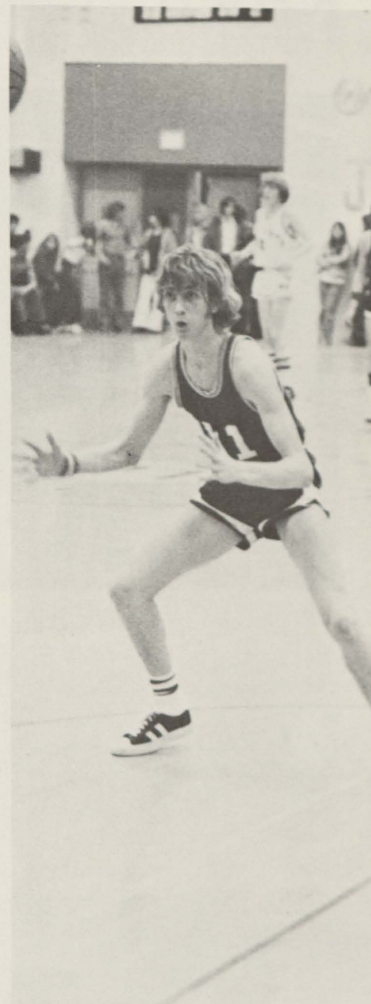

Coach Dave Franz

Icers have tough season, high hopes for next year

There's always lots of fast action in hockey!

Players get ready for action.

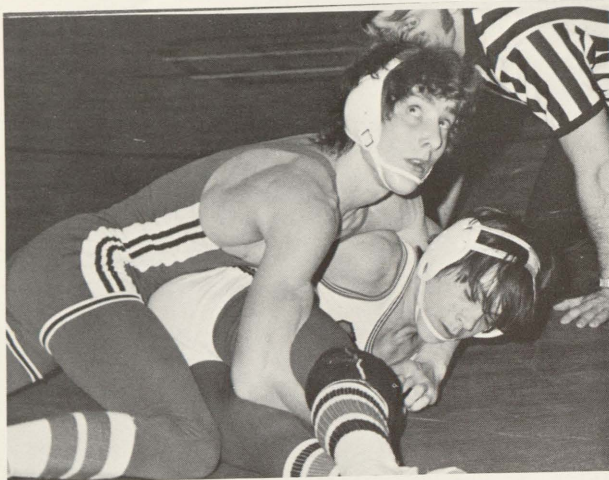

According to Coach James Probstfeld, the Freeland Hockey Club is playing in a "very competitive league" this year. They play teams from Bay City, Midland and Saginaw in the Delta Hockey League.

Although the Freeland Hockey Club has lost most of its games, Probstfeld stated that he's "quite satisfied with the progress of the team," and the players are "sticking together hoping to become a varsity sport next year."

Goalie: "Duh. . .What Happened?"

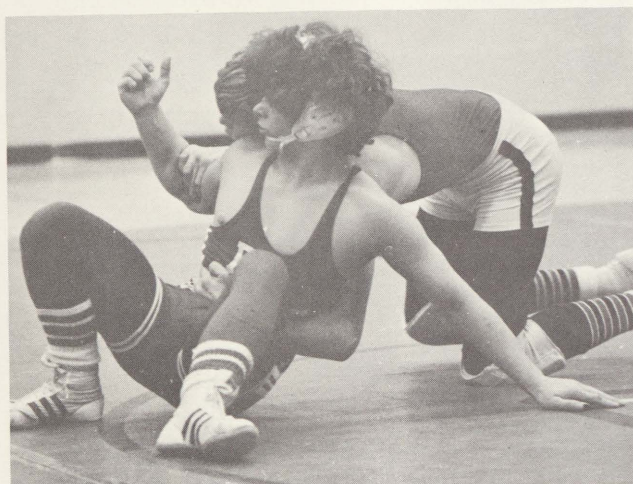

Chris Potenberg shows wrestling style.

Freeland had a young wrestling team this year, with only two seniors, Tim Curl and Chris Potenberg, but the squad finished with a good showing (7-7-1) in spite of its youth.

Tim Curl, Scott Anderson and Chris Potenberg competed in the regional wrestling meet, and Potenberg qualified for state competition.

In the conference, the Falcon grapplers finished fourth, the highest place they've ever achieved!

"Move over Jean-Claude Killy!"

Coach Sue Spence gives a pep talk.

... and capture conference championship!

Freeland's boys' and girls' ski teams had a very successful 1976 season. The boys' team was undefeated in conference competition.

On Feb. 19, Freeland's ski teams participated in the Regional Ski Meet held at Bear Mountain Resort, Grayling. There were 18 schools. Freeland's boys finished ninth, with Mike DeCaire taking a fifth and seventh place.

Freeland's boys' and girls' teams won the All-Conference Combined Slalom and Giant Slalom trophy. The meet was held at Bintz Apple Mountain on Feb. 24. The boys took a first place combined, and the girls took a fourth place.

Artistic gymnasts are really "tough cookies"

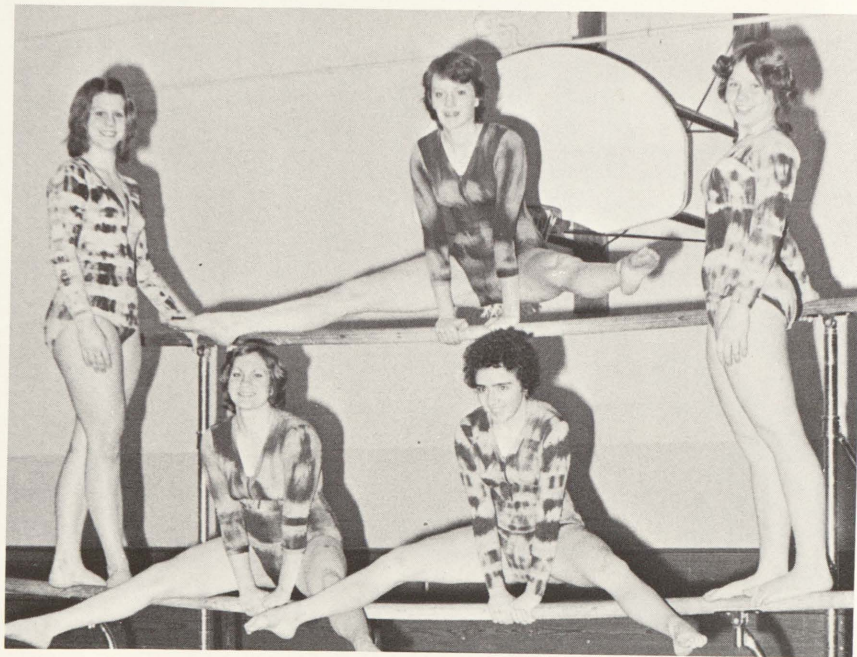

Olga Korbut "American style?"

Kelley Taylor holds on for her life!

The girls' gymnastics team had a short schedule this year, due to adverse weather conditions, but in meets they did compete in they ran away with five victories and suffered only one loss. "Jeri Holubik has been the team's superstar," commented Coach Alice Buchalter. "She's come in first in more than one thing in every meet!" Two girls qualified for the regional high school meet this year. Kim Mikolaizik qualified in the balance beam, and Jeri Holubik qualified in tumbling, floor exercise, vaulting and uneven parallel bars. Jeri Holubik also qualified to compete in the state high school meet, and she came home a state champion in vaulting competition. Jeri is the first gymnast in the Saginaw Valley to win a state title.

Sports of the past

The collage features a variety of sports-related images. At the top, a basketball game is in progress with players wearing jerseys with numbers like 25, 30, and 40. To the right, a volleyball player is shown in mid-air, spiking the ball. Below this, a soccer player is captured kicking the ball. In the center, a basketball player is shown in a dynamic pose, possibly shooting or passing. To the left, a basketball player is shown in a defensive stance. At the bottom, a basketball player is shown in a defensive stance. A large photograph in the center shows a basketball team posing with a banner that reads 'F VICTORY'. Other photos show athletes in action, such as a basketball player shooting, a volleyball player spiking, and a soccer player kicking. A large photograph at the top shows a basketball game in progress.

Mark,

To a really nice guy
who made my

2nd and 3rd hour worth commung to. I'll be commung over this summer for my "stripping" lessons. Do you still strip? It was fun making have to do it again someday.

I promise not to swear in class anymore so you can stop teasing me about it. Take care and have a good summer.

for me and hope
it has for you.

Sociology wouldn't have been so fun without you. And you and Ben and Jane were just a blast in "Happies" class. I've never laughed so hard.
Well have a good year and take care hope to see you next year.
Good luck with

Nat'l Honor Society

N.H.S. inducts twenty new members

After the ceremony.

Refreshments await inductees, parents, and teachers.

Craig Rau concentrate on his timing.

Team mates.

"This was the first year for a girl's track team. Even though there were only 4 girls on the team, they did quite well in regional and conference competition. With two girls holding conference records: Kim Mikolaiezik in high jump, Linda Craig in the two mile.

Coach Hollingworth and his son.

Varsity hits tops in the 1976 season

I was very proud of this year's team. Even though we lacked Varsity experience, we played like veterans. I've never seen a team hit the ball like we did this year.

John Wegner throws a mean ball.

"I felt everyone on the team improved greatly over the season. Early season errors hurt us the most. We surprised alot of people in the second half of the season."

Team Mates ( coohy coohy cool!)

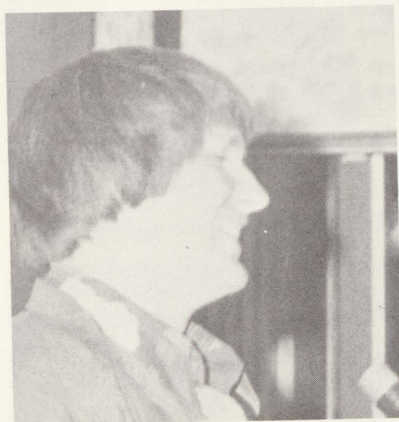

Mariann Brubaker: "They could have told anything but that!"

Seniors chow down, laugh it up

Tom Baker gets a chuckle out of Kim Rusch's prophecy.

Linda Paquette dares the photographer to take her picture.

If all else fails: laugh it off!

The Seniors of '76 were presented with a banquet in their honor at Bay City's Anchor Inn on May 18, 1976. A lovely dinner was served; then the Seniors sat back, relaxed, and enjoyed readings of the history, wills, and prophecies.

Memories “over

Vickie Rohde and Jim Rau enjoy a quiet moment together.

"Wheee! This is the life!"

"Don't look now, but he's taking our picture."

Patti Fowler and Joe Ballien make an attractive couple.

"... and did I ever tell you about the time that I..."

"Yes, darling, and I feel the same way about you, too."

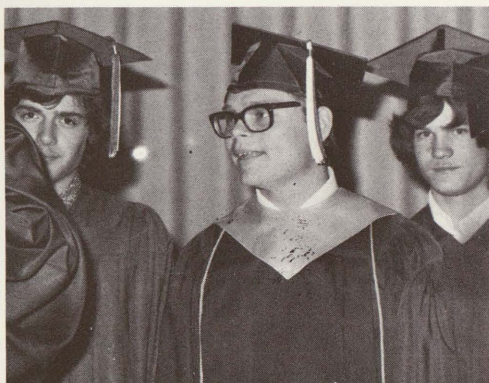

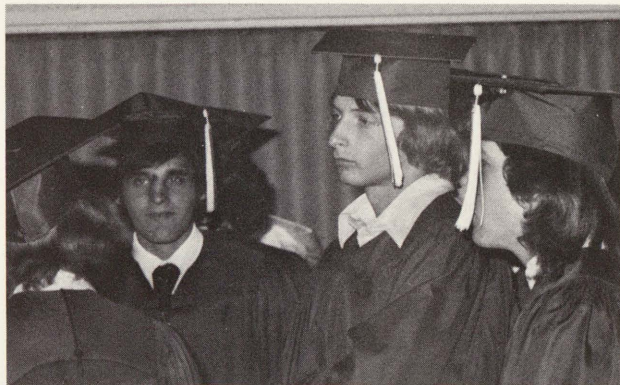

This year's junior-senior prom with "Over the Rainbow" as a theme, was held in the Delta College commons on May 1. The evening was cool, but pleasant, and many couples enjoyed strolling in the outdoor court. Music (?) was provided by Jade.

A final step taken . . .

The 1976 Graduates and their guests join in the Pledge of Allegiance.

A new day begun

A warm handshake, congratulations, and a well-deserved diploma!

Mrs. Ellen Thayer was recognized for her many years of dedicated service.

On June 3, 1976, over one-hundred-and-twenty more Freeland students said good-bye to the hallowed halls of Freeland High. Highlights of the hour-and-a-half ceremony included the bands playing selections from "Exodus;" a letter presented by Mr. Hacker from President Gerald Ford; and, of course, Mr. Hennink's individual recognition of the 1976 Graduates.

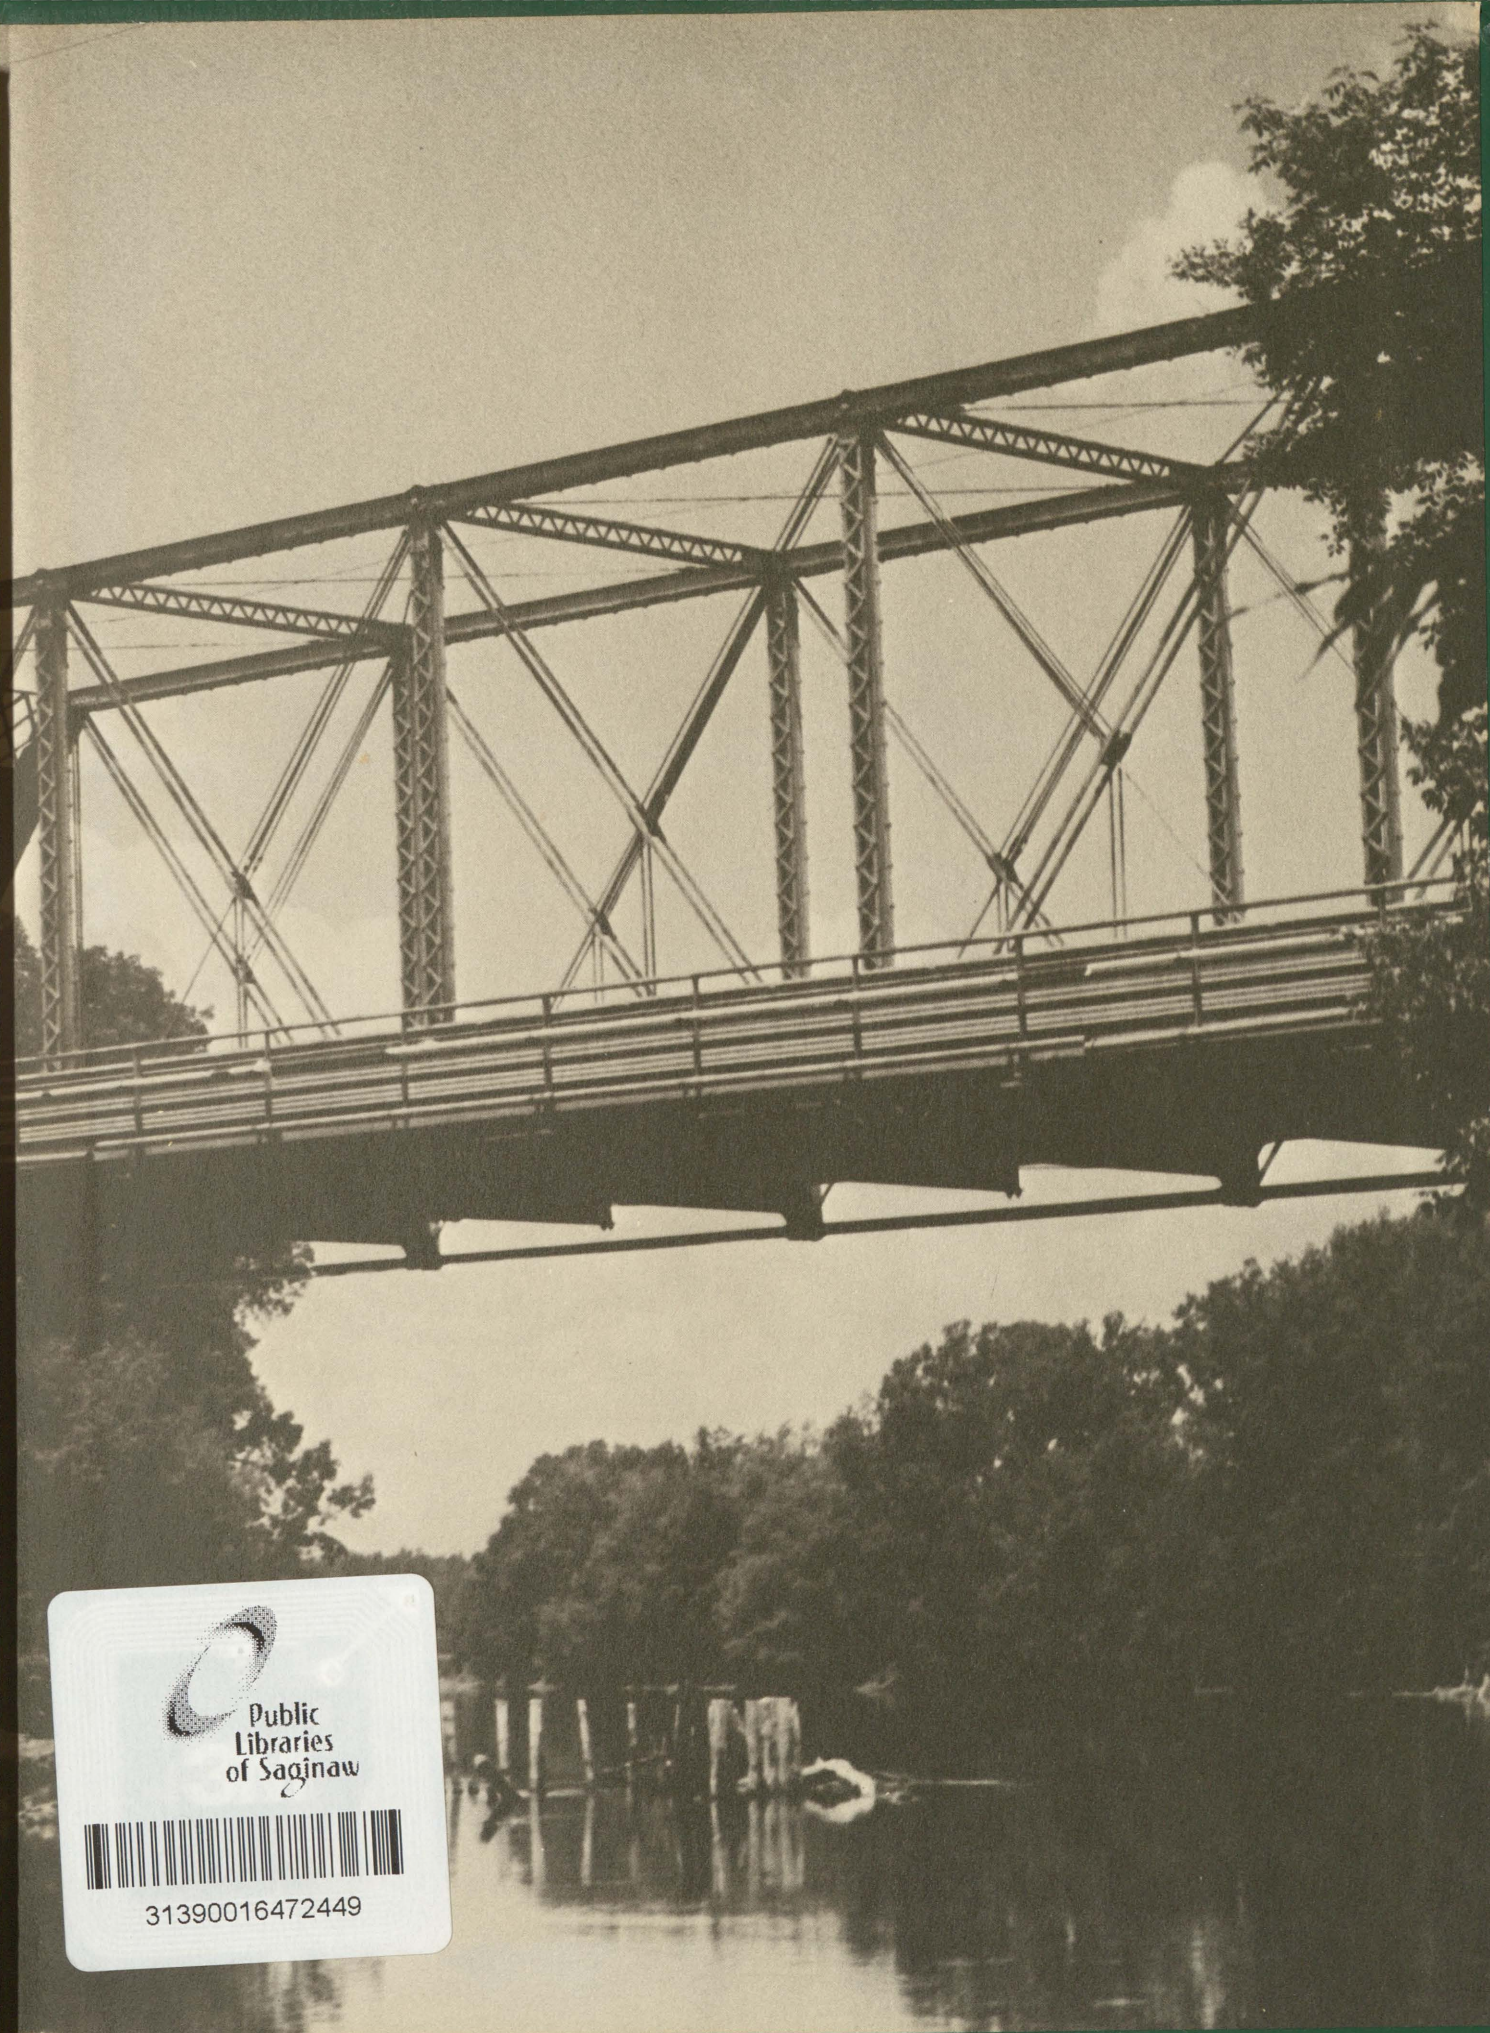

Farewell Freeland High!
